Pollution is a huge problem that we must deal with immediately because it is destroying our planet. Many endangered animals are dying, especially in the oceans, because of pollution. Some animals eat the plastic bottles that they find in the sea and that kills them. Whales, manatees, and turtles are dying every day because of pollution, and it doesn't look as if this will stop very soon.

But plastic in our waters isn't the only problem. Because of oil, the water in our oceans is now very dirty and animals aren't able to survive.

Although the problem of oil in our seas and oceans is very hard to resolve, we can help end the problem of plastic. We must stop using plastic drinking straws and cups, and warn people not to use plastic disposable bags, cups or plates. We all can help animals survive!
